CALUMET REGION IS FAVORED

The Times asked William H. Tyffe Parry of Gary, an authority on the building situation whose operations as a brick and material broker brings into business relations with the central west, to give his opinion of the building outlook for the Calumet re-

Mr. Parry thinks this region will be the center of activity. He points out the fuel administration effects on material production and the forthcoming reduction in brick making. However local yards are well supplied and the pressure of several local plants will be a great aid to the region. The only drawback to a great building boom here will be insufficient building loans. Mr. Parry suggests we storm out senators and other congressmen with petitions that government ald be secured here.

What with two performances a day, rehearsals and manuscript study and reading the actresses in New York have only a little time on their hands. But that little they are making elastic and they are dedicating it to war relief. The photograph shows a scene at the opening of a campaign the stage mars have started to raise money for worthy war charities. The fund is to be known as the State Women's War Roller and subscriptions are to be sought all over the country. Blanche Bates in the photo is luvying a subscription from Florence Nash, campaign chairman, and May Buckley, treasurer of the fund, is receiving a contribution from Madge Kennedy.
